

How to apply for the NHI card

All the rights you need to know

The NHI card serves as a reference for national health insurance. For card replacement, NHIA offers convenient access to services via mobile phone, internet and counter service.

Get your first NHI card !

1 locations to apply for the NHI card for newborns :

1. The household registration office
2. The subordinate insured unit
3. Online
4. At NHI service counters

2 For citizens who are born abroad or have just completed initial household registration or foreigners: Enroll in the NHI before applying for the NHI card

How to enroll for the NHI

The NHI card replacement

Please bring a 2-inch recent photo and TWD 200.

Online application >>>

1 NHI APP – NHI Counter

2 Online services for personal NHI information

- (1) Card reader
- (2) Registered NHI card or citizen digital certificate

Counter service >>>

1 NHIA and the authorized agent (on-site collection) Identification document is required

2 Other counter services

Household registration office (only for citizens whose ID card and NHI card are lost at the same time or for those who want to update their personal information), the subordinate insured unit or post office
Identification document is required

- Ways of collecting the NHI card:
collection via registered mail or on-site collection by appointment (within 2-7 working days)

How to apply for the NHI card

Counter service for on-site collection

Notice

1. For those who have applied for a card replacement but not received yet, they can have NHI medical services with the receipt for application and their ID and filling out the NHI exceptional access to medical care form at the contracted healthcare provider.
2. Newborns may access NHI medical services with one of the parents' NHI cards up to 60 days after birth.